

I would like to urge you to uphold net neutrality. This is a basic freedom that U.S. citizens have concerning their means of communication and to regulate access to internet communication, which is what the telecom companies would like to see, would be a tragic limitation on American freedoms. Thank you.