

I support Net Neutrality. The internet is revolutionizing the world. Newspapers are dying. Magazines are reinventing themselves. It is wrong to give privileges to large corporations and thereby give them greater control than single individuals over what we can easily access and what we access with greater difficulty.