

A strong Net Neutrality rule is essential to preserve our First Amendment rights. The people who use the Internet must have control of it, not large corporations that have agendas other than freedom of speech.

More than 1.7 million Americans have already called on Washington to protect Net Neutrality, and far more than that are fed up with the degree to which corporate interests control our government and society.

The FCC must now act decisively in the public interest by enacting strong rules that keep the Internet free from blocking, censorship and discrimination.

Tell the FCC not to give in to pressure from AT&T, Comcast, Verizon and their lobbyists who care nothing for our freedoms. Stand with us in support of a strong Net Neutrality rule.
