Re: GN Docket No. 09-191

January 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

With recent advancements in technology, our service men and women stationed on U.S. military bases away from home have the ability to communicate with family and friends through Web conferencing, online chats and e-mails.

These advancements in communication technology are thanks to the continued build-out of broadband infrastructure across the United States. For the men and women who serve our country this means the ability to read his or her child a bedtime story, see the new family dog or simply communicate with loved ones.

As the FCC is considering new net neutrality regulations, please ensure policies continue to promote broadband expansion and growth, providing more service members and their families with access to the high-speed Internet they need to keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Anthony E. Enrietto, Jr.
