

I am signing this form letter because I agree with its content. It is absolutely critical that the FCC passes rules that establish a media marketplace through which consumers choose the winners and losers. It is absurd that the fate of news sources, content producers and content distributors should be decided by whims of telecom companies. We should choose what we want to watch and hear. Corporate censorship must be rejected and outlawed.

More than a million Americans have called on Washington to protect Net Neutrality – the rule that lets me control my Internet experience.

It's now time for the FCC to respond and enact strong rules to keep the Internet free from blocking, censorship and discrimination.

This is an issue with real consequences for real people. Don't give in to pressure from AT&T, Comcast, Verizon and their lobbyists. Stand with me and other Americans in support of a strong Net Neutrality rule.
