

More than a million Americans have called on Washington to protect Net Neutrality — the rule that lets me control my Internet experience.

It's now time for the FCC to respond and enact strong rules to keep the Internet free from blocking, censorship and discrimination. We simply cannot afford to lose any freedoms on the last, real medium that exists to provide information without interference from corporations or government. A Democracy can only survive when there is freedom of the press to ensure an informed electorate. The death of newspapers and the corporate take-over of our airwaves leaves only the internet to fulfill this requirement.

This is an issue with real consequences for real people. Don't give in to pressure from AT&T, Comcast, Verizon and their lobbyists. Stand with me and other Americans in support of a strong Net Neutrality rule.
