

Whatever the reason the powers that be feel they have to control the population again, it needs to stop. It's beyond obvious, unless one is a complete dolt, that our food (outside of honest farmers) is garbage, un-nutritious/irradiated, our education is almost the lowest in the world, our health care is a joke, what a man is paid doesn't even come close to what he has to pay, we are fed lies on the bought television networks, and we are careless with the lives of any individual fighting for our rights. The government could give a rip about its populace. This is obvious. Sad, but obvious. The Internet is one of the last frontiers that people can at least share a human component, or feel independent in their search for knowledge. This government will indeed awaken the, "Sleeping Giant" if another stone is placed on its pathetic resume again.

This is a human request to please stop trying to control the human beings that reside on this planet, that has already suffered so greatly.
