

More than a million Americans have called on Washington to protect Net Neutrality – the rule that lets me control my Internet experience.

It's now time for the FCC to respond and enact strong rules to keep the Internet free from blocking, censorship and discrimination.

This is an issue with real consequences for real people. Don't give in to pressure from AT&T, Comcast, Verizon and their lobbyists. Stand with me and other Americans in support of a strong Net Neutrality rule.

An open Internet gives me freedom of expression - freedom to write and share my views and the freedom to find alternative viewpoints;

I want other, smarter people to come up with the next Google, the next YouTube, the next Web application that I can't even imagine;

I want to read about people and cultures that are different from me;

Mainstream media make me scream expletives, and I use the Internet to find alternative sources of news and information;

I want to e-mail my boyfriend a link to a picture that reminds me of our last vacation;

Net Neutrality means I don't need anyone's permission to create my own videos, and media execs aren't determining what's funny - we are;

I come up with potential million-dollar ideas all the time, and some day, I just might start my own business;

An open Internet feeds the activist in me, allowing me to engage with my community and organize for social change online;

It's winter and I'd rather shop online, only I still want to support a local business;

I needed advice on how to prime and paint a room, and found a video online that taught me how to do it; and,

I don't want to be censored. In a since this means you are making our country stand for nothing.

Freedom of speech can go right down the drain. I hope you realize this!!!!
