

More than a million Americans have called on Washington to protect Net Neutrality – the rule that lets me control my Internet experience.

It's now time for the FCC to respond and enact strong rules to keep the Internet free from blocking, monitoring, censorship and discrimination. Unless children or terrorists are involved, leave us be. I would however endorse rules that allow parents to dictate what comes in or goes out on the internet from our homes.

This is an issue with real consequences for real people. Don't give in to pressure from AT&T, Comcast, Verizon and their lobbyists. Stand with me and other Americans in support of a strong Net Neutrality rule.
