

I support 'net neutrality' the net has been more or less neutral since its inception and it has evolved and developed well without much regulation needed. The internet does not need to be throttled by the internet service providers obeying the highest commercial bidders. Keep it open and neutral.