

In today's digital age there is a transition happening. Many people have different needs when it comes to the news in their local community or town. Because of the huge transition that is happening right now it is hard to say what will happen in the future and what people will need when it comes to their information.