This reports on a February 16, 2010, meeting with Commissioner Robert McDowell and Rosemary Harold, Esq., Legal Advisor. Present from MMTC were MMTC Fellow Joseph S. Miller, Esq., and myself.

We informed Commissioner McDowell and Ms. Harold that MMTC, joined by other national organizations, would be filing a letter with Chairman Genachowski stating that the required Section 257 investigation is almost two months late and requesting that he place on the agenda of the Commission’s April 2010 public Commission meeting a Report and Order adopting several of the dozens of long-pending, fully briefed and virtually unopposed proposals to advance media and telecom ownership diversity. Specifically, we discussed:

- The need for the Commission to appoint a compliance officer to enforce the advertising non-discrimination rule.
- The Commission's authority to call for early license renewals to prevent broadcasters from evading compliance with the non-discrimination rule.

Further, we urged that the Commission fully consider the impact of net neutrality rules on minority consumers and small businesses, especially with respect to Principle #5. The Commission should be especially wary of whether inflexible network management could lock in current disparities and unfairly shift inherent risk. We also stated that broadband adoption should be the Commission's highest priority.

Respectfully submitted,

David Honig
