Dear Sir or Madam:

I'm writing in regards to proceedings 08-166, 08-167 and 10-24. As a freelance sound engineer, I rely on wireless microphones for a wide variety of applications, including charity auctions, corporate meetings, concerts, broadcast and more. Here in Washington state, companies such as Google, Microsoft, and Boeing hold all types of meetings and events that require wireless microphones. Also in my community are countless houses of worship that use wireless microphones in their services. I'm writing to encourage the FCC's expansion of licensing under Part 74 to include theaters, performing arts centers, sports facilities, churches, and educational institutions, all of which benefit enormously from reliable wireless microphones used for public assembly.

Unlicensed use under Part 15 - sharing spectrum with unlicensed consumer services (TVBDs) - would eventually be catastrophic to my business and to live events across the board. I urge you to expand the categories of licensed wireless microphone use under Part 74.

Sincerely,

Brian Moynihan
