

2/23/10

To whom it may concern:

I currently reside in a community where I am forced to pay for cable and internet services a set amount every month. I don't know how much I'm paying for cable and how much I am paying for internet. What makes it worse to me is that I seem to have no choice to not pay for these services. The cable provider is not one whom I would like to have and I would prefer to choose satellite a provider. Even if I do get the satellite I would still have to pay for the cable services. This to me is a violation of my freedom as a consumer to choose whom I want to receive services from. It is also wrong to just tell me to pay a specific amount when I have no knowledge of exactly what I am paying for (i.e. services or taxes charged). Please do not allow developers to sign this exclusion deals and then force the people who are buying homes to have agree to this deal. When I buy a property then I should be allowed to make decisions as to what cable/satellite provider I want to service my home. Thank you.

Kevin D. Hennings
1303 Teton Circle
Suffolk, VA 23435