

Net Neutrality needs to be strictly enforced. This is the public's protection from huge Telecoms controlling internet speech. Millions are dependent on an open and free internet for their daily business ventures.

Letting Telecoms set up exorbitant fees and gateways would decimate millions of business transactions daily. The vast majority of the Internet highway was set up with taxpayer dollars and taxpayers need to be able to freely access what we've already paid for.

Sincerely,
Mike Nickel