

Before the FCC decided to pursue Net Neutrality protections, Fox News Channel's Glenn Beck warned his audience that the government was "trying to take over the media." Beck later said that Net Neutrality would "wildly affect your life and free speech" by forcing a "Marxist utopia" on the Internet. Without net neutrality, only an oligarchy of money and the power that goes with it has a voice. The Oligarchy that Beck represents is opposed to net neutrality because the voice of the rich and powerful will be diluted, They have been against anything that gives power to people since the 19th century.
