

I'd like to register my opposition to the proposed establishment of WCS services in frequencies adjacent to those currently in use by Sirius/XM customers like myself. I, like millions of others, pay good money each month to receive Sirius/XM services and don't want to see that service interrupted.

While I recognize the economic value of these spaces in the spectrum and applaud the FCC's enablement of it's use for new technologies, its being done far to quickly and puts existing widely used services at risk. These spaces should not be handed over for other services use until sufficient protections are in place in the technology to ensure that existing usage, such as Sirius/XM radio are sufficiently protected.
