

Industry front group Americans for Prosperity wrote that there hasn't been "a single significant incident of egregious behavior" by phone and cable companies," adding that Net Neutrality is "a solution in search of a problem."

The Internet should remain an open source medium. That is how it can help democracy and a free society.

Freedom of the press is so important.