

The proposed merger between NBC and Comcast is anti-competitive and will surely result in less variety of content and more propaganda.

The greatest victim is the voice of working class people.

Mega corporations do not provide content that represents anyone but the corporate interests.

This is easily seen in the censorship of critical commentary of the run up to the Iraq war.

Mega corps and war profiteering companies own the mainstream media and this bias cost untold thousands of lives and trillions of dollars.

This merger will worsen the problem.

How about breaking up these immoral and war mongering media conglomerates instead of rewarding them?
