

Comcast is my Internet and Cable Television provider. I can only assess its statements about future actions regarding keeping content and delivery systems separate, should this merger/purchase be allowed, by how it delivers products to me now. The marketing of cable service is bizarre to say the least. Although I pay for premium services the most mundane channels are not available unless I purchase still more. To obtain Turner Classic Moivies I must pay for the NFL channel; that is absurd. The speed of the Internet service is not as advertised and nothing seems to help that. Please do not allow additional concentration of cable services for Comcast.
