

David Sutphen, co-chair of the AT&T-funded Internet Innovation Alliance, says that Net Neutrality is a "distraction" that "only concerns those already online." Sutphen calls Net Neutrality rules "divisive new regulations," which could have "unintended consequences" for those seeking to bridge the digital divide.

Preserve Net Neutrality. Don't let broadband providers pull the wool over your eyes. They won't come through on their promises to provide more for poorer communities. Their record is proof of their duplicity.
