

Please excuse me if this is a double post because I received no indication that this was sent the first time I clicked submit.

Without Net Neutrality, the creeping enslavement of the Citizens of America by those who control most of the wealth of this country will move into its final phase. These Plutocrats already own and control the mass media, over which they broadcast the sort of lies that have led to an ever greater concentration of the wealth of the nation in their hands. The purpose of the lies is to spread the fear and hate that divides the People, yet again proving the validity of the adage "Divide and Rule."

The People at least have one remaining means for seeking the Truth, and that is a Free and Unfettered Internet. This source will be destroyed if the founding principle of Net Neutrality is destroyed. A People who lose access to the truth about what their powerful Corporations are up to, and about what their Government is up to, will lose their Freedom to choose how they want their country to be governed. Without Freedom of Information, there can be no Freedom of Choice. The "Truth Will Set You Free," has always been true, and never more so than now, when assaults against it have become so determined.

With nothing but the self-serving distortions, half-truths, and outright lies of the malefactors of great wealth who will control both the mass media AND the Internet if Net Neutrality is rejected, the Will of the People will be the Will of their Masters on Wall Street and in the Executive Suites of the great Corporations of this land and abroad. Now that there are no limitations on either the sources or the amounts of cash that can be used to manipulate the People as they consider their electoral options, not only American Plutocrats and their Corporations, but also foreign Corporations and even Governments can pour money into an effort to convince the People that their interests are actually the same as those of those of the rich and powerful, wherever in the world they are.

Some believe that those who have risen to the heights of the Business World know more and are wiser than the "Little People," as they consider the 95% of the citizenry beneath them. Those who are still capable of even a little bit of Critical Thinking, after a thirty year barrage of propaganda, are asking how this could be true when it was those same "Wise Men" who destroyed the Banking System they were in charge of. The answer is that the "elites" who control the levers of power in any society have never been wiser than the people they rule, and in their blind arrogance and greed have wreaked destruction on the People time and again, whether in their recurring wars, their financial bubbles, or in their assault, for personal gain, on the air, water and land the people depend upon for their very survival.

If the People are to have any lasting chance of being able to rule themselves, as the founders of this great nation envisioned, they must have a way of independently seeking the Truth, and debating what that Truth is. Toward that end, I urge the FCC to support and confirm the principle and practice of Net Neutrality, and in so doing to support the vision of the founders of America as a land where the many rule, and not just a powerful, Aristocratic few.
