

Industry front group Americans for Prosperity wrote that there hasn't been "a single significant incident of egregious behavior" by phone and cable companies," adding that Net Neutrality is "a solution in search of a problem."

Go fuck yourselves.