“Before the FCC decided to pursue Net Neutrality protections, Fox News Channel's Glenn Beck warned his audience that the government was "trying to take over the media.” AND HE IS RIGHT! Leave the internet free for individuals to think for themselves and regulate themselves. We do not need FCC regulation over the internet. The American citizens who are intelligent, patriotic to the founding principles of this great country, enjoy exercising their freedom to govern themselves and even have the maturity to search out differing views/opinions on societal, cultural, political, religious, educational issues. We do not need an FCC parent, thank you.
