

We, America, do not need "net neutrality." China has a form of "net neutrality" as do other countries. We are not they. We, America, are free!

The arguments made by advocates of so-called net neutrality regulations have been proven false by nearly a decade of experience since their concerns were first raised. The Internet is a remarkable free market success story, and the vast majority of Internet users are not clamoring for regulation.

Self-styled consumer groups asking for regulation actually represent an extreme left-wing ideology that is hostile to free-market capitalism and puts its trust in government. That is not the position of the "grassroots" or most American Internet users. I urge you to reject new regulations and allow the free-market Internet to continue flourishing.
