RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am writing to voice my support for the Comcast-NBCU merger. Comcast has proven itself to be a responsible corporate citizen that is heavily involved in supporting communities here in Connecticut. I am particularly impressed by Comcast's commitment to the children we care for here at Connecticut Children's Medical Center every day, and kids throughout the region.

Comcast has been an important supporter both through financial and volunteer assistance. The company has invested in Reach Out and Read, a program in which pediatricians promote early literacy through direct intervention with families, here at Connecticut Children's. Comcast has also supported the West Hartford Center Kidscard Program, which generates critical funds for Connecticut Children's. These efforts make a real difference for children in our community and ensure our ability to give kids the care they need.

Our experience has been that Comcast is a caring, responsible corporate citizen, and I trust that it will continue to be one in its new, combined form.

Sincerely,

Martha E. Schall
President
Connecticut Children's Medical Center Foundation
