

There is never an excuse or reason for our government to step in and limit freedom of expression over the internet or any other medium. The government also has no right to affect the freemarket in the name of so called fairness. people decide what they listen to, watch, and search for on the internet and it is not necessary to try and create an "even playing field". If people like what they hear, watch and view on the internet then those shows etc. will be successful. please protect freedom of expression and allow the american people to decide what they will and will not listen to.
