

I believe the attempt by liberals to squash tv shows they do not agree with under the guise of "net neutrality" is a veiled attempt to stifle opinions they might not agree with. Freedom of speech is tantamount to the beliefs on which America was established. I am opposed to anything that will not allow freedom of speech via tv, internet, or any other means of media communication. The Glen Beck show on Fox TV is a service to anyone wanting to hear the "other side" of the story that is not covered or expressed by other liberal media outlets. Network news is very liberal biased and I have lost all confidence in the news they report.

Thank you.
