

The FCC must reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" so that it can keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers.

Without vital Net Neutrality protections and the ability to enforce them, the Internet will cease to be a public platform for free speech, equal opportunity, economic growth and innovation. Instead, companies like AT&T, Verizon and Comcast, which have a commercial incentive to limit the free-flowing Web, will decide whose voices are heard.

You still have the power to protect the public interest. Please stand with us and keep the Internet in the hands of the people who use it every day.

P.S. In the Profitable (I mean Economic) perspective, as soon as companies gain control of the internet, with no limiter, they will monopolize the internet towards their own sites and then the price will soar up at their sites and then with no broadband towards other sites, people forced to use those sites will (a) receive the consequences stated above, (b) be pressured into limited broadband use making broadband useless anyways, and (c) potentially collapse the economic situation of irresponsible households or households dependent on internet usage. Being in charge is hard work, I'm sure, but please think beyond the short term for a minute. Please create the neutrality net.
