

Look all I know is I pay for my Cable television and have a PC with a tuner card, up til about a month ago I could get all my channels on clearQAM now the only way for me to get the channels is to use Comcast cable box and pay them a fee. To me it seems like it is just their way to control how I watch TV. When I pay for a service I'd like to be able to control what I do with that service.

Thanks for you time
