

Media consolidation has resulted in fewer choices for consumers (tax paying citizens) in all areas of life, and as a result, we do not get any real news on tv, radio ect. I thought the commons belonged to the people? Now the big corps. are trying to buy off the people that are supposed to represent the people (tax paying citizens) remember us ? This is the only place that I can go to find real news and it should stay that way. We need to give the FCC the power that was taken away by M. Powell so that they have the tools to do the right thing for the citizens intrest, not the big media cos. They control all the content of the so called media news. How pathetic this system has become. Do the right thing and leave the net and local broadband in the hands of the people. No more monopoly , not even on sat. radio. Where is the competition when one co. owns it all?
