

We need local broadband and it has to be in the hands of the local people, not the big media like ATT and Comcast. We know what Google did to control and slow searches. The net is part of the commons and should stay that way! The pathways for communication belong to the citizens of this country, or they are supposed to. They have been bought off by stinking big money, so that now instead of at least one hour of drive time radio that is free from any special intrest, and that tells the publik the truth, we have Fox ect. The net is the same common property, so do not sell it off to!
