

Wireless carriers should be forced to disclose to consumers when unusually high charges are being accrued. Consumers should NOT receive a bill for thousands of dollars without prior authorization of the charges.