We write to you today in support of the Comcast-NBC joint venture. Our program has worked closely with Comcast for many years and we have experienced directly how committed this company is to children and diversity.

The Elijah Cummings Youth Program in Israel (ECYP) is a leadership development program designed to build relationships between Baltimore's diverse communities. We try to foster positive bonds between ethnic groups and train our youth to become successful future leaders. At our organization, we invest in two important programs, one of which sends students to Israel for a four-week trip. We also offer the Jerold C. Hoffberger Leadership Enhancement Program, which is a two year program in which we teach students the importance of cooperation, diversity, and civic engagement.

Comcast has been a passionate supporter of our organization. Through their help, we are able to send three children alone to participate in our Israel program. In addition, we believe that this company is a responsible corporate citizen of Baltimore, partnering with many other local organizations. We recently awarded the company the "Legends Among Us" award for their commitment to children and diversity in the Baltimore area.

The Elijah Cummings Youth Program in Israel is a joint venture between Congressman Elijah Cummings and The Baltimore Jewish Council.
Israel programming provided by Yemin Orde Youth Village.

Comcast has a strong track record on investing in children's programming and child safety online, but the company also backs it up with its actions locally, both in our Baltimore community and I'm sure around the nation. We believe that it will continue these efforts once partnered with NBC.

Sincerely,
