RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As part of your review of the proposed joint venture between Comcast and NBC Universal, it is my understanding that the Commission will consider each company's commitment to the local communities in which they do business. I write to help inform this review, offering the particular experience of the Central Delaware Chamber of Commerce, which has had the great fortune to call Comcast a local business.

Comcast has played an important role in promoting the local economic interests of Central Delaware. Not only does Comcast employ nearly 2,000 workers in the state and provide affordable broadband to residents and small businesses, but the company is an active participant in events geared toward promoting the general economic welfare of Central Delaware.

As a member of the Chamber, Comcast has sponsored many of our programs and events, including our year-long Leadership Central Delaware series, the Chamber golf tournament and the Military Affairs Reception. Comcast executive Tom Worley serves on the Chamber Legislative Committee, having served as Chairman in the past.

I urge you to consider Comcast's involvement in Central Delaware as you consider its proposed joint venture with NBC Universal.

Sincerely,

Judy Diogo
President, Central Delaware Chamber of Commerce
