

I rely on the Internet as a public platform for free speech, equal opportunity, economic growth and innovation. Without vital Net Neutrality protections, companies like Verizon and Comcast, which have a commercial incentive to limit the free-flowing Web, can decide whether I will have a voice online. These companies should not have the power to determine my fate on the Internet.

The FCC must have the power to protect consumer access to the most important communications medium of our time. The FCC must stand with me and keep the Internet in the hands of the people who use it every day. Please reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" and keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers. Please reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" and keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers.

Seeing that the Supreme Court said that corporations can now BUY elections, and these same corporations are seeking to restrict information to the public, I don't know how you would allow them to steal freedom. This use to be the United States of America, but it's turning into the ultra right wing corporate hellhole of the west. I don't want to live in China. I don't want to live in North Korea. I don't want to live in Iran. I don't want to live in a country where it's government restricts information. Leave the internet open.
