Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As the Founder and Executive Director of Jazz Education Inc. in Houston, Texas, I strongly believe in music education and its ability to transform how children learn and process the world around them. Comcast has been our partner in reaching new audiences of young people, exposing more than 30,000 school aged children to Jazz music and giving over 200 teenagers the ability to attend a five-week Summer Jazz Workshop each year and perform at the Houston International Jazz Festival.

Comcast is committed to arts education and youth development in the Houston area. It is a true pioneer in corporate citizenship and philanthropy, lending its resources and talent to support communities like ours at the local level. Comcast has consistently and thoroughly supported our efforts. It is my pleasure to support Comcast's proposal to partner with NBC Universal.

Comcast's June Lohman lends her time and expertise to steer Jazz Education Inc.'s board of directors. She is an invaluable resource, helping us fulfill our mission. Comcast also supports the Mayor's Scholarship Jazz Brunch and serves as the title sponsor of the Jazz & Poetry Series during Black History Month.

Further, Comcast features Jazz Education Inc. in its public service announcements and helps us outreach to new sectors of the public by showcasing our good works in its local Comcast Newsmakers program.

Comcast is an integral part of our efforts to expose new generations to Jazz music. I fully support its proposed partnership with NBC Universal and I encourage you to endorse it, too.

Sincerely,
