

I use the Internet daily as my primary source of revenue, information, and ability to connect to others. Without Net Neutrality, all of that is in danger for me and countless others who have come to depend on the Internet for our lives. The idea of the Internet quickly took off in the public because it was free and open like our society. Anything less than that is un-American and against small business and innovation, the backbone of our country.

If you allow companies like Comcast and Verizon to decide what gets through and what doesn't, you are supporting the death of America and the very thing that gives us the strength to compete in the world. And I don't care what kind of protections or rules they put in place. We have seen time and time again in this country that corporations if left to their own devices, can generally not be trusted. And oversight never seems to really work either. The only fair and acceptable solution is to NOT allow them to filter content. It always comes down to who gets to decide what is and is not acceptable. Inevitably the truth and free speech suffer. I urge you to think about the long term economic impact on this country and not to let that happen!

Please ensure the FCC has the power to protect consumer access to the most important communications medium of our time. The FCC must stand with the people and keep the Internet in the hands of the people who use it every day. Please reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" and keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers.

I thank you for your time and consideration!

Sincerely,

Dennis Altshuler
