

I rely on the Internet as a public platform for free speech, equal opportunity, economic growth and innovation. Without vital Net Neutrality protections, companies like Verizon and Comcast, which have a commercial incentive to limit the free-flowing Web, can decide whether I will have a voice online. These companies should not have the power to determine my fate on the Internet. Just like much of the media on TV has killed the library and reading, so too will these companies kill the free speech "library-like" freedoms that are allowed now. We won't have any control over our content, our opinions, our true history and our free-choice to voice and research whatever we like. Without Net Neutrality we will be one step closer to corporate and governmental dictatorship. Please don't allow this to happen.

The FCC must have the power to protect consumer access to the most important communications medium of our time. The FCC must stand with me and keep the Internet in the hands of the people who use it every day. Please reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" and keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers. Thank you!
