

I use the internet at least a few hours a day and I rely on information from various sources. If power were to become consolidated, I would no longer trust the sources of information I receive when I search for information.

The internet is the real last bastion of free speech, equal access and freedom of information. Please ensure that it stays that way!!!