Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

On behalf of Alianza Dominicana, Inc. I write today to express support for the proposed joint venture between Comcast and NBC Universal (NBCU).

Alianza Dominicana, Inc. is a non-profit community development organization founded in 1982. Its mission is to strengthen communities and affirm the value of family and community life by forging strategic partnerships, developing and implementing model programs to provide support and protection to those in need, and create opportunities for social and economic development. Alianza values and promotes leadership, self-sufficiency, health, education, and economic opportunities that guarantee the fullest development of children, youth and families.

Alianza has emerged as the most comprehensive Dominican community development agency in the US and the leading authority on Dominican-Americans, the second-largest Latino community in New York State. With 11 different sites in northern Manhattan, 1 in the Bronx, and a budget of over $12 million, Alianza annually serves more than 60,000 individuals citywide, making it one of the largest providers of community-based services in the area.

We are particularly proud of our record in service provision but also of our ability to maintain longstanding partnership with companies such as NBCU and Telemundo in serving the Upper Manhattan and Bronx communities.

It has not been our practice to involve ourselves in submissions of this nature. However, given the record of community involvement of NBCU and its Telemundo subsidiary, our review of the public commitments with regard to diversity made by Comcast and NBCU on June 3, 2010, and the prospective benefits for consumers that this transaction will generate, we believe it is our responsibility to make our views known.

While commitments are only as good as the men, woman or entities that make them, we believe that the respective records of Comcast and NBCU bespeak proactive and responsive actions with regard to the issues and concerns that affect our community. Therefore, moving forward the marriage of these two corporate entities allows a combination of resources, talent and commitment that we believe will inure to the collective benefit of our community.

In reviewing this transaction for approval the Commission must decide if is in the public interest. We submit that it is in the public interest given the potential opportunities for our community for greater employment, supplier diversity, philanthropic involvement and cable network ownership.

Consequently, we urge the Federal Communications Commission to approval the joint venture between Comcast and NBC Universal.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

The Asian Pacific American Chamber of Commerce (APACC) strives to bring together representatives from all types of businesses to create support for economic development and to ensure the prosperity of our diverse Asian Pacific American community. Given your current review of the pending Comcast-NBCU joint venture, I am writing to you today to make sure you're aware of the important work performed by Comcast and its longstanding support for diversity.

Just this past year, Comcast hosted an APACC membership mixer and, in May 2009 and 2010, sponsored our Chamber's very successful Annual Dinner Celebrations with corporate leaders and Asian business professionals. APACC strives to facilitate connections with Asian countries to help develop international business opportunities and welcomes corporate support from prominent US companies like Comcast. APACC is also committed to business and community partnerships in education and other areas where we've been pleased to see the Comcast Foundation's dedicated mutual interest.

At APACC, we understand that fostering business-to-business relationships through these sorts of networking events are a key element of enriching local communities and helping strengthen international cooperation and commerce.

APACC has been pleased to collaborate with Comcast on these important efforts and has every reason believe such opportunities will only grow stronger in partnership with NBCU.

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As President and CEO of the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce, one of the largest regional chambers in the nation, I am writing to inform you of Comcast's investment in and support of local communities - especially in the Chicago region. I ask you to approve Comcast's proposed partnership with NBC Universal.

The Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce has approximately 2,600 members and represents over 1.3 million individual employees in the six-county Northeastern Illinois region (Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry, and Will Counties). Our mission is to make Chicagoland the most business-friendly region in America and enhance our members' success through aggressive programs in advocacy, member benefits, services and actionable information.

Our current initiatives include promoting the growth of new-economy jobs, improving the education system and workforce quality, and fostering innovation and an entrepreneurial culture. Comcast shares this vision and has been an important player in promoting the economic vitality of the Chicago area. Comcast Senior Vice President LeAnn Talbot is a member of our Board of Directors and several other Comcast executives are active members of our committees. In addition, Chamber officials regularly appear on Comcast's local Newsmakers public affairs program to discuss matters of importance to the region.

Here in the capital of the Midwest, we do not think of Comcast as a "Philadelphia corporation." We think of Comcast as an integral part of our local business and civic community. In addition to its work with the Chamber, Comcast supports our local communities through charitable giving, providing in-kind services to schools and libraries, and providing public affairs programming that bring visibility and debate to matters of public importance. Comcast truly is a national company with a local presence. Please consider Comcast's efforts to serve local needs in innovative ways in the Chicago region as you review its proposed transaction with NBC Universal.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I understand that the Federal Communications Commission is now reviewing a proposed joint venture between Comcast and NBC Universal. I am writing to you today to express my support for Comcast – in particular due to its generous community service in the Mercer County, New Jersey, region.

The Mercer Regional Chamber of Commerce is the premier business organization in our area, connecting local businesses and seeking to create new opportunities for exposure, networking and sustainable development. As its President, I was recently selected to participate in the Ford Fellowship for Regional Sustainable Development, through which I have learned many different techniques in which businesses can raise living standards and contribute to healthy, sustainable growth.

Comcast has long understood many of the principles of sustainable community development. The company and its employees recognize the value of giving back to the community – something that the Mercer Regional Chamber of Commerce greatly appreciates.

Comcast not only has built out broadband to Mercer enabling our businesses and residents to flourish, but also donates their high-speed Internet services to many of our local schools and non profits and supports local career development centers, which work to prepare tomorrow's work force.. I have known Comcast Senior Vice President David Breidinger for many years and I can tell you that he has been a tireless advocate for New Jersey businesses and the community at large.

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I am writing to express my support for the Comcast-NBCU transaction, and to encourage the Commission to approve it. As the Chairman of the Michigan Senate's Energy Policy and Public Utilities Committee, I am focused on the best interests of all our residents, but most importantly on ways to jump-start our economy. Comcast, as a leader in broadband innovation, has helped bring jobs and 21st century technology to all Michiganders.

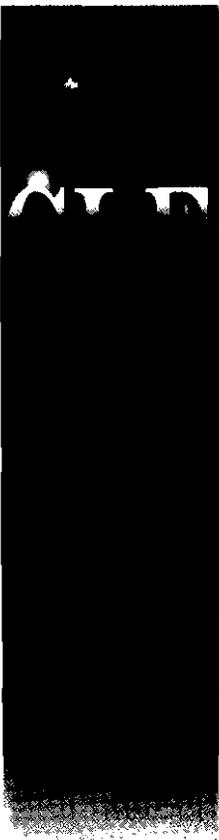

Comcast has made a significant investment in broadband infrastructure. This has been a boon to small business owners looking to cut their business costs and expand their services into new markets; certainly, selling goods and services outside of Michigan means piping in out-of-state revenues. And I note that well before the broadband revolution, Comcast has been a major employer in Michigan, and it continues to be so.

Technology and innovation continue to drive economic growth, and we in Michigan know the importance of companies that can create both new jobs and new opportunities for businesses. I am confident that Comcast will continue to be an asset to the community as it grows.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am writing to you as Executive Director of the Chairman's Leadership Forum, a national non-profit, non-partisan association providing issue education and advanced leadership skills to state legislative leadership throughout the United States.

An important component of the association is the Legislative/Business Roundtable, bringing business and legislative leaders together to address issues of mutual concern and work to find common ground for seeking solutions to complex legislative and social issues. Comcast has participated in these Roundtables and proven to be a trustworthy resource for accurate information, education and problem-solving.

Comcast has a long history of working with state legislatures and a strong tie to the states. While CLF works closely with Comcast on public policy, we are aware that Comcast is an economic driver at the state level, employing about 100,000 employees in 39 states. In addition, Comcast gives back to the state and communities through charitable contributions, programs such as Comcast Cares Day Care program and free internet service to schools and libraries.

The Chairman's Leadership Forum has worked with Comcast in creating responsible and sound public policy at the state level and found them to be trustworthy partners. NBC Universal can only become stronger and more public-oriented by partnering with Comcast.

Sincerely,

Joy C. Newton

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I am writing to express my support for the Comcast-NBCU transaction and to encourage the Commission to approve it.

Comcast is a national leader in broadband innovation and has helped bring jobs and better technology to New Jersey.

In addition, Comcast's investment in their network has expanded their services for all consumers.

Most importantly, America's economy is more reliant than ever on technology and innovation to grow and compete with the rest of the world. Allowing the two great American companies in this transaction to continue their long history of job growth and innovation is, in my opinion, in the best interest of this country.

For those reasons, I respectfully ask that you support Comcast's requests to join with NBCU.

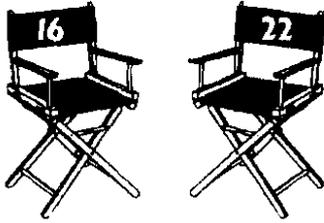

Thank you.

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

As the FCC reviews the proposed venture between Comcast and NBC Universal, please bear in mind the commitments Comcast has made to public, educational and governmental programming like that provided by Bedford Community Television (BCTV) in New Hampshire. Comcast is a great resource to operations like BCTV.

Comcast has embraced working with BCTV and acts as a trouble shooter and sounding board to our station. It has helped us develop creative solutions to a variety of technological issues and its staff is always accessible, easily answering questions and challenges for us.

However, as station manager of BCTV, the thing I appreciate most about our working relationship is the honest feeling that Comcast values the service we provide and recognizes us as an asset to the community. Comcast has been a steadfast partner in executing our mission.

We hope the FCC will take note of Comcast's record of helping community organizations. It has certainly made an impression on Bedford Community Television and we therefore endorse the Comcast and NBC Universal venture.

Re: Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

Our world is becoming more digital every day. With the influx of faster Internet speeds, expansion of cable choices and of course our still-important telephone networks, telecommunications companies must do whatever they can to stay up-to-date and competitive. This requires a collaborative and innovative industry that is capable from learning from others in the field. I believe Comcast is demonstrating just that ability by joining teams with NBC. Through my experience at Harmonic, Inc. and throughout my time in the telecommunications industry, I have seen time and again that thinking outside the box and investing in new ventures is the key to success.

Comcast has proven over the years to be a responsible leader of their industry. Growing from a small cable operator to the nation's leader, they have been a jobs creator in every economic environment, with success no matter the obstacles. They promote a diverse workplace, valuing the many points of view that come from a variety of backgrounds. In addition, they are regular investors in the communities they serve with the Comcast Cares Day program and sponsorships of and donations to hundreds of nonprofits around the country. Comcast clearly puts value on their employees and customers and this sort of responsible corporate citizenry will surely continue to serve them well as the move forward.

I have had the pleasure of working with many Comcast executives as colleagues also. An example is Tony Werner, the Comcast Cable Chief Technical Officer. Tony is a respected industry veteran that is driving new services and technology which will provide consumers across the country with many more exciting information and entertainment options. Harmonic works closely with Comcast on many of these new innovations, which helps grow our business, drives new product development investments, and allows us to add new employees.

The new combined team of Comcast and NBC will surely bring many exciting new products to our industry and consumers. Working together, these companies will be better suited to meet the changing demands of our industry. We are experience an exciting time of rapid growth and change in telecommunications and look to our business leaders to continue this evolution. I believe the combination of content and distribution will be a boon of innovation.

Sincerely,

Matthew Aden

As a representative of the people of Shelby County, Tennessee, and Chairman of the House State and Local Government Committee, I am writing to urge your support of the Comcast and NBC Universal venture. I believe the FCC should know about the overwhelmingly favorable role Comcast plays in our communities and keep the company's local commitments top of mind.

Comcast does not get enough recognition for the investments it has made to provide 99 percent of Tennessee's homes with broadband service. As you know, being connected in today's environment makes all the difference for our business owners, teachers, students and even our governments. Comcast even takes this a step further by providing many of our libraries, municipal buildings and schools with courtesy services.

Furthermore, having spent many years as a police officer and small business owner, I am especially aware of the positive impact of community organizations and solid educational programs for our people and youth. These organizations are one of the best methods we have to teach our children the values that are most important, and provide them with the skills and interests to become productive citizens. Comcast has been a huge source of support to organizations that advance these goals, such as charitable events and community organizations. These organizations make our streets safer, our neighborhoods stronger, and the jobs of public officers easier. I cannot overstate the importance of these programs, nor the importance of Comcast's support for them.

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am writing you in support of the proposed partnership of Comcast and NBC Universal. In light of Comcast's history as a corporate citizen that gives back to the communities it serves, I am convinced a joining of these two companies will benefit their operations and local communities across the country.

As the former President of the Detroit City Council, I can attest to Comcast's commitment to our city. As Comcast has expanded in our area, it has lived up to the promises it has made to our neighborhoods and people. Comcast has delivered by supplying improved cable, faster broadband internet and top-of-the-line service throughout Detroit, including minority neighborhoods.

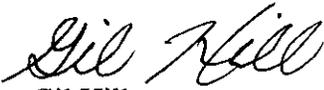

In a state that has been devastated by the economic downturn, Comcast is an important provider of quality jobs. With hundreds of facilities and thousands of employees throughout the state, including many from Detroit, Comcast is making a positive impact on Michigan's economy. Comcast has also invested billions in infrastructure and technology upgrades across Michigan. These kinds of investments are good for its business, but also for Detroit's ability to attract top notch corporations and to foster small business growth.

Finally, I have been most impressed with Comcast's commitment to promoting diversity in its programming and providing economic opportunities for our minority community in its ranks. Comcast has demonstrated its commitment to quality African-American programming by teaming with minority-owned broadcasters to start TV One. Comcast has also shown its dedication to diversity within its own operations, promoting educational and economic opportunities for its minority employees. That means a lot to the predominantly African-American community of Detroit.

LISTA B 002

As you consider Comcast's union with NBC Universal, I hope that you will take into account the contributions Comcast has made to the Detroit community as a quality employer and a tremendous community partner.

Sincerely,

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I realize that it is the duty of the FCC to investigate the union of two national communications companies like Comcast and NBC Universal. As the Mayor of New Haven, Connecticut I would like to go on record as approving this venture.

Comcast has been a great partner with the City of New Haven. An outstanding example of our partnership is Comcast Cares Day. For years, the New Haven Boys & Girls Club had been unable to update its space on Columbus Avenue. Thanks to Comcast Cares Day, the wait is over. This past April, Comcast employees, families and friends joined hundreds of volunteers in painting, repairing and generally renovating the Club, making it a more welcoming place for the children it serves.

In 2008, Comcast employees and their families turned out along with LEAP and United Way of Greater New Haven to install our "Born Learning Trail." This Comcast Cares Day initiative was the second of its kind in our state and is a great learning tool for students at Conte West Hills School where it is located.

Comcast is a also proud supporter of the City of New Haven's Summer Youth@Work program, which provides summer employment opportunities, workplace exposure and work readiness activities to youth who may be challenged by socio-economic or academic barriers to workplace success. Also, Comcast is a partner in Read to Grow, Inc., our effort to end illiteracy. Last year, Comcast announced a $10,000 grant to Read to Grow, Inc. for the "Books for Kids" program. This funding made the distribution of 10,000 new and gently used books possible to New Haven's students. At the kickoff event, Comcast distributed books to 150 children of limited means to encourage literacy by increasing families' access to books.

Comcast also supports musical literacy in the New Haven school system. With Comcast's help, the VH1 Save the Music Foundation celebrated its tenth anniversary in 2007 by providing tens of thousands of dollars worth of new musical instruments to restore the music education programs in two of our public schools. A celebration event was held at the John C. Daniels Middle School to allow school officials and community members to see first-hand the positive impact music has on students.

In addition, Comcast provides cable and broadband services to our schools, libraries and to our Boys & Girls Club as a courtesy.

The programs that Comcast supports in New Haven enrich our quality of life at a time of economic challenges. We are very grateful to Comcast.

I believe Comcast's union with NBC Universal will be a great success. I ask you to support it.

Very truly yours,

John DeStefano, Jr.

We all know that being a good neighbor is important to the life of a community and ultimately to the growth and prosperity of our citizenry. When our corporations are part of that formula, a community has every opportunity to thrive.

Comcast believes in being a good neighbor and takes an active role in improving the communities where it provides service. Through an initiative it calls Comcast Cares Day, Comcast employees and their families annually participate in volunteer projects that enhance neighborhood aesthetics. The Comcast Foundation also provides significant funding in the form of grants to neighborhood organizations whose work promotes its interests in areas of education and housing stability.

The Minneapolis Urban League has firsthand knowledge of the benefits of Comcast's involvement in the community, especially in urban areas where neighborhood demographics sharply reflect the diversity of our constituent populations. In 2009, we received significant funding from Comcast to support two MUL initiatives: 1) our Project Ready program, which prepares public high school students for college testing and enrollment; and 2) our annual Family Day event, which brought close to 3,000 inner-city residents together for a day of free fun. Comcast's own Diana Hawkins sits on Minneapolis Urban League Board and as an active advisory committee member, provides valuable advice and oversight to our program operations. Also, as a result of the Comcast Newsmakers cable television program, the Minneapolis Urban League has been able to bring awareness about our programs to a broader range of people, both those who need our help and those who are willing to help us help others.

Comcast's commitment to employee volunteerism, its willingness to partner with and support the work of so many nonprofit organizations, and its philanthropic attitude is making a difference in the lives of neighborhood residents throughout the state of Minnesota. Please consider that as you review its proposal to partner with NBC Universal.

The Minneapolis Urban League commends Comcast for valuing diversity and for maintaining such a productive presence in its communities.

Sincerely,

Scott Gray

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

I am writing on behalf of the Shawsheen Valley Regional Technical School regarding our relationship with Comcast and what it has meant to our students.

Our school, located in Billerica, Massachusetts, offers students a high school experience that optimizes student attitude, achievement and skills by integrating vocational-technical and academic curricula in order to prepare them to begin adult life and careers immediately and independently.

Our goal is to prepare our students to enter the workforce in new and emerging occupations, effectively equipping them to begin careers as skilled workers and technicians or to prepare to pursue post-secondary education.

We believe that providing a good high school experience for our youngsters means setting them up for a positive future as productive citizens in our community. But our mission is large, and we know we must also recruit help from employers in our area. Comcast is one that has stepped up in a big way. They have continually supported us, whether by having Tim Murnane, Comcast Vice President of Government and Community Affairs, partner with our school on many initiatives or by providing grant money for our at-risk youth after school program.

As you consider the joint venture between Comcast and Universal NBC, please bear in mind that Comcast is a vital part of our community. Its reach goes beyond providing jobs; its presence is also felt in the preparing our youth for a promising future.

RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am proud to serve the people of my district in the State House of Representatives. Mr. Chairman, I wish to join those who have already contacted you in support for the Comcast-NBC Universal transaction. With our state's unemployment rate approaching 15 percent, it is critical we protect and grow solid, job-providing companies that do not outsource jobs overseas.

Creating and keeping good jobs for Michigan's working families is my top priority. I recently visited Comcast's facility in Grand Rapids where I learned the company employs more than 4,000 people state-wide. Consequently in addition to jobs and benefits, Comcast is paying a significant amount in taxes. Given the widespread layoffs and economic hardship related to our struggling auto industries, those tax dollars are more important than ever.

I regularly hear from constituents who need more support and services- a challenge given our shrinking state coffers. Comcast has filled a void in that area as well. I had the pleasure to attend this year's Comcast Cares Day events during the week of April 19. The company predicts 2,400 employees, their friends and families worked on a wide-range of community-based projects including sorting and packing food at multiple food banks, neighborhood clean ups, literacy fairs and much more. This effort demonstrates the company's commitment to the highest level of corporate citizenship in the communities where it operates.

Supporting a company that is innovating, sustaining and creating jobs and supporting our communities is absolutely essential at this time. I strongly urge you to approve this transaction.

Sincerely,

Roy Schmidt
