

Can the cable company charge for internet services which had been shut off for a month?? With comcast cable if you have a late payment they shut off your internet and premium channels until you pay your bill which is one month in advance. Can they charge you for the services you did not receive?