

The Internet is a public platform for free speech. For-profit companies like Verizon and Comcast must not be able to decide whether I will have a voice online. Public airwaves are ours, and they should be controlled for our benefit, not for some big company to profit by exploiting us.

The FCC must not cut private deals to hand control over the Internet to a few massive phone and cable companies. Allowing Internet providers to build toll lanes online is not Net Neutrality, and does not serve democracy.

The FCC must protect consumer access to the most important communications medium of our time. The FCC must protect Net Neutrality on wired and wireless networks. Please reclassify broadband as a "telecommunications service" and keep the Internet open and free of corporate gatekeepers.
