

I am a partner/owner of AirTight Internet Services. We provide website design, hosting and Internet services to small and medium businesses.

It is critical to our customers that network neutrality be maintained. I urge you to revisit the Bush-era decision that deregulates broadband services and to reclassifying it so that it is regulated once again. The FCC should do everything it needs to do to protect American consumers and small and medium businesses. The Internet should not be a tool of large corporations.

Please enact rules to regulate Broadband to keep it neutral to all users.

Thank you,

Don Dudan, Partner/Owner AirTight Internet Services
