Re: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

United Way of Miami-Dade is our community's largest private not-for-profit organization, dedicated to advancing the common good by focusing on education, income and health – the building blocks for a good life.

Over the years, we have enjoyed a strong partnership with Comcast. We appreciate Comcast's long history of supporting programs that improve our community. Through its donation of public service announcements and airtime on programs like Comcast Newsmakers, Comcast helps our organization, among a number of other non-profits, raise awareness in the community and generate support.

Among the projects we are most proud of in Miami-Dade, is our state-of-the-art national United Way Center for in Early Education, dedicated to elevating the quality of early childhood education here and beyond. A fundamental component of the Center is the training of adult learners – parents, early childhood teachers and administrators, among others. Comcast is an integral partner in our training efforts, having funded our Technology Awareness Training Series. This series is designed to provide professionals in the field of early childhood education with instruction on technological applications for classroom use and documentation.

Just recently, Comcast signed on as a partner of our Operation Helping Hands disaster relief and response effort. Operation Helping Hands was created in 1998 to provide the people of South Florida a way to reach out to their neighbors in need following a disaster. In response to Haiti, we raised more than $1 million through this effort. We are excited about our partnership with Comcast as we believe Comcast's broad reach will greatly expand the success of our efforts.

Comcast is a valued partner, always lending its time and resources to improve lives and strengthen our community. We hope the FCC will keep in mind Comcast's strong charitable and community track record as it deliberates the proposed Comcast-NBCU venture.
