

Hello,

Currently I purchase internet, TV, and telephone from Comcast. There is no other cable provider in my area. Verizon (through Frontier Communications) provides FiOS for these features, but as the rep from Frontier explained to me, these features will not be available in my area because Qwest is the local telephone service provider. Qwest does not offer FiOs, only DSL. Help me understand, as it seems the regulations are a hindrance to the consumer. So the FCC does not regulate cable, but they do regulate telephone? It seems that there is no competition for Comcast because its would be competitors are prohibited from doing business in certain areas. Where can I make an appeal to request that FiOS services be allowed by more than one provider, so I truly do have a choice as a consumer? Thank you.
