

I'm not sure if this is the right section, but please do something about the ability for companies to send junk mail through text messages. It's not fair to those who have no texting plan to have to pay to receive unwanted and unsolicited messages. Thank you.