

We are the people who is hearing and vision impaired, or deaf/blind. I prefer dual impairment.

Why can the government can give out free cell phone, who are low income, and why the government won't help those who are dual impairment.

Dual impairment is very stressful to us that can't see, or hear on the cell phone.

The government should support the dual impairment with these Mobile Magnifier Screen Reader, and Mobile Speak, and those who know Braille too.

These great programs will benefit us whose has dual impairment.

The government need to get involve with these programs technology with these cell phone company's.

These cell phone company's need to get more involved in the Mobile Magnifier Screen Reader, and Mobile Speak.

I'm 58, and I have to learn the new technology, cause of my dual impairment.

I'll be leaving in Feb. 7th, 2011, to go to the Conklin Center for training programs like for example, Braille, Computer Skills with Jaws (Jaws is a software that will speak thing's to you, if you have no sight at all), and I wish the Conklin Center can help those people with the use of a Magnifier Screen Reader, and Mobile Speak, that why the government needs to get involved with so we the people that are visually and hearing impaired, or Deaf/Blind, can keep up with our daily lives.

No one know what a visually, and hearing impaired, or deaf/blind have to deal with everyday in our life.

Please help us to communicates with other people by use these programs for us who are dual impairment.
