

Your watchdog service isn't effective. People with very little or no money can't afford the high cost of cable. If there is no monopoly then why is Time Warner/Comcast rates and fees so high? I am 54 and only had Time Warner cable once at a $29.99 for a year rate but my bill depicted all the other hidden fees and ended up being $42 a month. When you ask the reps pertinent questions, they usually lie and are evasive. But you want to have the opportunity to enjoy cable but basic was as it is portrayed basic. I didn't have one premium channel, cartoons were all modern some violent, discovery didn't discover much, and the few movie channels I had showed old reruns so all I watched is real forensic, police, or crime file stories depicting how sick and violent our society has become.
