

Thank you for taking my comment on protecting migratory birds from tower kills. As a taxpayer I'd like to see every precaution possible taken to reduce bird mortality including guidance from Environmental Impact Statements and US Fish and Wildlife Service, as well as selecting sites away from ridges, rivers, and wetlands, and requiring low impact lighting and marked guy wires. It would also be great if you could embrace progressive technology like radar and sensors to detect circling bird traps, and a transition to communication satellites.